

PERCEPTION ADVISOR

courtney driver

Brands don't own perception. Their audiences do.

I help executive teams understand how campaigns, launches, customer experiences, partnerships, and business decisions are likely to be interpreted-before the market decides for them.

My perspective has been shaped by nearly two decades working across luxury publishing, creative leadership, behavioral psychology, digital innovation, and institutional intelligence, bringing an independent lens to the decisions where perception has the greatest impact.

ADVISORY FOCUS

I partner with executive teams on high-impact initiatives involving:

- Brand Perception & Positioning
- Desirability
- Affluent Consumer Psychology
- Narrative & Messaging
- Creative Counsel
- Luxury Customer Experience
- Executive Decision Support
- Cultural & Market Interpretation

I work alongside leadership teams to bring clarity before important decisions become public perception.

REPRESENTATIVE COLLABORATIONS

REFINED MATTER

PRIVATE AFFLUENT INTELLIGENCE

To support my advisory work, I built Refined Matter—a private affluent intelligence platform focused on luxury, perception, desirability, and affluent consumer behavior.

Refined Matter continuously interprets market signals, cultural shifts, editorial insight, and emerging consumer behaviors to identify the patterns shaping modern luxury before they become obvious.

Every advisory engagement is informed by this evolving body of intelligence, grounding recommendations in long-term patterns rather than isolated observations.

PHILOSOPHY

The strongest brands are not built by saying more.

They are built by understanding how every decision shapes perception.

THAT IS THE WORK.
